DRAFT BILL TO FILL SEAT OF STATE SENATOR

Five Counties Have no Representatives in Legislature.

TO BE EMERGENCY

Governor to Make Vacancy Appointments.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 28.—With five counties having no representation in the Ohio legislature, Sen. E. H. Hughes, Zanesville, today said he is drafting an emergency bill providing for the filling of these vacancies. The measure, Hughes declared will be thrown into the hopper as soon as it is completed.

Through the death of Sen. Harry M. Carpenter, of Steubenville, Jefferson, Belmont, Harrison, and Columbiana counties, are without a representative in the senate. It was pointed out that such cities as Steubenville, East Liverpool, Salem, Cadiz, Martins Ferry, Bellaire, and St. Clairsville, are left without a member in the upper house.

Portage county lost its representative in the lower house, when Rep. Perry L. Green, Hiram, was appointed state director of agriculture.

Hughes' bill would allow the appointment of persons to fill the vacancies by the governor after consultation with the state central committee of the counties affected. The appointees would serve until the next general election.

The bill, which is labeled as "emergency legislation" will receive immediate action when it is introduced, it is believed.

Today

March of Events.
Another Pact.

Smallpox in China.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

TROTZKY, telling Mr. Ochs at considerable length, just what happened to him, describes his downfall and exile as "la marche des événements," "the march of events."

He might better have described his troubles as due to "la faiblesse humaine"—"human frailty."

TROTZKY couldn't hold his place because he lacked strength to hold it. Had powerful Lenin lived, he would have held power, and Trotzky in Lenin's shadow would have continued to direct the Russian army, which he did admirably.

TROTZKY'S statement that Stalin and other Russian leaders that exiled him and his friends are leaning "to the right," that is, toward conservatism and capitalism, will interest America's conservative government.

Stalin, intelligent Russian, knows that power without money is a shadow, so he leans in the direction of money.

REVELATION of a war agreement between France and Belgium disturbs the innocent British, but it doesn't disturb this country.

THE French have discovered an oil trust, with Britain and the United States combining to control oil producing fields all over the world, to the detriment of France.

AMERICAN oil stock and oil well owners would like to know who runs that trust, and why it doesn't do something to prevent the squandering of oil.

A WIDESPREAD outbreak of smallpox adds to China's troubles. The Chinese, more intelligent than some Americans, appreciate the importance of vaccination, and have designated March 1 next as "national vaccination day." Ignorance still opposes vaccination in spite of the fact that what was once the most dreaded disease has ceased to be important in civilized countries.

WHEN Voltaire's friend, Catherine of Russia, was inoculated with vaccine from the arm of a little boy, and created that boy "Duke of Smallpox," every other face was disfigured with smallpox marks. If smallpox deaths were now what they were then, a city

MURDER VICTIM?

Police thought the woman whose body was found in flames near a New Jersey highway would be identified as beautiful Mozanno McLain, who was threatened with death before testifying last fall against eight members of a New York "gin ring," who were subsequently sent to prison. This theory has been discarded.

SERGEANT YORK TO SPEAK HERE FRIDAY, MAR. 8

Outstanding Hero of World War Once
Objector.

APPEAL DENIED

Lone-handed He Captured German Battalion.

Sergeant Alvin C. York, Tennessee, once a conscientious objector and later termed the outstanding civilian soldier in the World war, will tell of the struggles of the people of his mountainous home zone in a lecture in the high school auditorium Friday, March 8.

Military men, discussing the accomplishment of York, who captured an entire battalion of German soldiers, wonder what he would have done had he really had his heart in the work of fighting.

For though he was a crack shot, he thrice had sought exemption from military service.

East Liverpool residents who will hear him speak March 8 of his adventures in behalf of schools he is trying to build for his people in the undeveloped section of his state, will see the spectacle of a transformed man.

For, by his own admissions he was in his youth "hog wild."

He admits, reports of him say, that he "gambled, cussed, smoked, boozed and got mixed up in knife and pistol fights all along the Kentucky border. Since 1912, however, he has not tasted liquor, cussed, gambled or even lost his temper. When war broke out he was working on a farm and doing Sunday school work in his own little valley. The possessor of a fine tenor

DEFER SENTENCE IN AUTO CASE

Judge W. F. Lones has deferred the passing of sentence on Ralph Wooley, 19, and Herman Riesmeyer, 40, both of this city, who were found guilty by a jury in common pleas court, Lisbon, of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

Defense attorneys have three days in which to file a motion for a new trial.

The two men were indicted at the special session of the grand jury on February 11. They were charged with having taken the automobile of John Wood, Jr.

Wooley and Riesmeyer were defended by Attorneys P. V. Mackall, of this city, and W. A. O'Grady, Wells-ville.

HOME INMATES BADLY BURNED

NEWARK, O., Feb. 28.—Burned about the head and shoulders, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McRaney, 82-year-old wards of the county home here, were in a serious condition in the City hospital today.

His wife, blind and feeble, McRaney was attempting to light the gas stove in her room when the explosion occurred.

It is believed that he failed to turn the gas off when his first match went out, and that the escaping fumes exploded when he lit a second match.

EXTRA JUDGE BILL IS DEAD, R. D. SMITH SAYS

Columbiana County Proposal Goes Into Pigeon-hole.

PLAN OPPOSED

Measure in Hands of Representative Van Fossan.

The Southern Columbiana County Bar associations proposal for the establishment of a second common pleas court at Lisbon will not be introduced at the present session of the legislature, it was intimated today by State Representative R. D. Smith, of Salineville.

The bill is in the hands of State Representative W. H. Van Fossan, of Lisbon, Smith's colleague in the lower house.

Time limit for dropping bills into the hopper expired last Monday. No additional measures can be introduced unless approved by a two-thirds vote of the assembly.

Considerable opposition to the appointment of a second judge developed, according to Smith. 15 persons in the county who had written him early in the year requesting that he vote for such a bill, all but one have withdrawn their endorsement of the proposal, Smith said.

Smith has introduced a bill which makes it compulsory for municipal courts, mayor's courts and justices of the peace to file transcripts of cases which are carried to common pleas court on error. The proposal was prepared at the request of East Liverpool attorneys, Smith said.

Smith said he favored the rural police bill now pending at Columbus.

TWIN BROTHERS DIE OF POISON

CLEVELAND, Feb. 28.—The death of two-year-old twin brothers, who succumbed to the effects of accidentally swallowing poison was announced by St. Alexis hospital authorities here today.

Edward and Stanley, two sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Piotrowski, found poison tablets on a shelf at the home while their mother was in the back yard yesterday. Mrs. Piotrowski rushed inside when she heard their screams and found the children's mouths and throats badly burned. Police took them to the hospital, fatally poisoned.

RESCUE MOTHER AND CHILDREN

CLEVELAND, Feb. 28.—Two men carried out an ingenious rescue from a burning home here early today for a mother and her seven children.

William Gilly's son-in-law, Theopolis Danzy, living in the Gilly home, awoke to find the residence afire. Awakening Gilly, Mrs. Gilly, and their seven children Danzy informed them that escape by the stairway was cut off by flames.

Danzy proceeded to the front porch and climbed out on the limb of a tree, not being able to pass each of the children to Danzy who lowered them to the ground. Mrs. Gilly escaped by the same route. The youngest child, a baby of 19 months, was dropped but is not believed to have been seriously injured.

CREST OF 30.1 FEET REACHED AT DAM NO. 8

Water Falls Back to
29 Feet at Noon
Today.

MANY HOMELESS

Property Loss in State Estimated at $3,000,000.

Flood danger in the East Liverpool district is believed to have passed today as the Ohio river began to recede after reaching a crest of 30.1 feet, three feet under flood stage, at 9 o'clock last night.

Cellars Flooded.

The river had dropped to the 29-foot mark at noon today, the fall being about one tenth of a foot every hour. Snow and rain which fell early this morning may have a tendency to check the fall dam tenders at U. S. Locks No. 8 stated.

The rise in the river halted as more than 50 families in the lowlands of Jethro, Smiths Ferry, and other nearby places were preparing to move into the upper floors of their homes. A number of cellars in these districts are reported to have been flooded by back water from the river but little damage was done.

Though a slight drizzling rain was falling in some sections of the Buckeye state and the weather forecast indicated light rain for tonight, weathermen and government river observers said it would not aggravate conditions.

Six Hundred Homeless.

More than 600 persons were driven from their homes Tuesday night in the Springfield, Hamilton and Newark districts. These were making their residences for occupancy today.

Damage estimates kept mounting. The $3,000,000 mark, set as a conservative property loss estimated by International New Service yesterday, will be exceeded, it was indicated.

Circleville remained cut off from the north and west, but here too, the waters were reported receding.

In most sections of the state, only lowlands were flooded. Only little property loss was suffered by this encroachment of the streams. This includes, however, the Springfield, Hamilton, and Newark districts, where the water in some instances was from four to ten feet deep. In Hardin county more than $25,000 damage was done to county highways because of the high water.

No Crop Loss.

No crop loss was reported. It was declared fortunate that the flood did not come two months later, when the crops would have been planted. Insurmountable loss would have been suffered then.

The temperature hovered around the 35 degree mark today. This was deemed favorable, inasmuch as it would prohibit a heavy rainfall.

POSTOFFICE ASKS FOR $150,000,000

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The recommendation of a joint treasury post office committee for a $150,000,000 authorization to complete needed building projects throughout the country will be considered by the house public lands committee, Representative Richard Elliott (R) of Indiana, chairman, announced today.

The committee estimated the total public building needs of the country at $398,000,000 of which $248,000 has been authorized.

"It has been apparent that the $248,000,000 provided for buildings outside the District of Columbia would not begin to meet all of the public building needs of the country," said Representative Elliott.

Pointing out that $200,000,000 had been authorized for buildings and the amount increased by an estimated return of $248,000,000 from sale of old buildings, the committee found that this would not adequately serve the present needs of the country.

against his wife Mildred Bastin, residing with William Mitchellson at West Point, charging her with gross neglect of duty and adultery. The couple were married Oct. 9, 1925.

Opha Callums, through Mr. Bennett has also filed a petition for divorce against his wife Lucinda Ann Callums of 1214 Carlisle avenue, Sebring, charging her with wilful absence for over a period of three years. They were married at New Cumberland May 25, 1914.

Lillian V. Cox seeks a divorce from her husband William Cox, residing in Beechwood, East Liverpool, the petition having been filed by Attorney Bennett, and charges the defendant with gross neglect of duty and wilful absence. They were married April 10, 1913.

Ernest W. Her, by his counsel Betzger, McCarty & McCorkhill, of Salem, has filed a divorce petition against his wife Mary Eva Her, of Lynn, Mass. They were married at Cleveland Oct. 21, 1914 and then removed to Lynn. The plaintiff then obtained employment at Salem, and the defendant refuses to remain with the plaintiff at Salem. Wilful absence is charged.

Inspection Planned.

The annual inspection of New Lisbon Lodge No. 65 F. & A. M. will be held in the Masonic temple at Lisbon, next Monday evening, the inspecting officer being District Lecturer Frank M. Justice of Youngstown. Dinner will be served in the Masonic ball room at 6:30 o'clock.

FOUR PERSONS
ACCEPT CHRIST

Rev. S. E. West Urges Forgiveness in Sermon.

"God's blessings will not come to the human heart which continues to hold a grudge against any one else," declared the Rev. S. E. West, pastor, at the Free Methodist church revival on Avondale street last evening. His theme was "Wrestling With God."

An increased audience was in attendance and four persons went forward for the later altar service held at the conclusion of the sermon.

"Utilizing the incident of Jacob wrestling with the angel as narrated in Genesis the pastor chose the words 'And he blest him there' 32:26 as his text.

In outlining the blessing that came to Jacob on this occasion and whence he got it he affirmed that he was guilty and deserved punishment from Esau for having taken the latter's birthright before leaving his father, Isaac's home to go to live at his uncle Laban's home where by serving fourteen years he received both his daughters, Leah and Rachel for wives.

"When man feels his need there is hope for him," he said. It is impossible to keep a grudge and obtain a blessing. There can be no blessing until such things are out of the heart. Time never ends trouble. If in the heart it remains there until it is confessed. And so Jacob put his feeling against his brother away from him.

"His name was changed from Jacob to Israel. The former meant supplanter, deceiver. Henceforth he was to do away with these qualities.

"But Jacob did not receive a blessing until his thigh had been dislocated in the wrestling with the angel. So every soul must feel its own weakness before it can be purified. Human efforts will not do this nor save them. They must trust in God and in God alone."

Announcement was made that Rev. Mr. West will speak this evening on the subject: "Repent and Its Results."

SEEKS TO HALT
TAX PAYMENT

A petition has been filed in common pleas court by Freda Hoff and Fritz Kresmer, as executors of the estate of Theresa Kresmer, asking that the court restrain County Auditor Elmer E. Walker and County Treasurer Fred George from the collection of $2,400 Aiken tax levied against lot No. 21 Salem, previously owned by the decedent.

The plaintiffs claim that $1,200 tax was levied against the property after John Cosgrove was fined by Mayor A. W. Perren at East Palestine for selling liquor Oct. 25, 1922, and later when Fritz Kresmer was fined by Perren for a similar offense.

It is specified that when Kresmer was fined, the sale was not made on the property owned by the decedent, but in a doorway on Main street distant from the property of the decedent.

The county board of education has arranged to change the boundary lines of the New Waterford school district in order that the Woodlawn, Cress and Highland school districts will hereafter be under the direction of the New Waterford board of education.

Both the county board of education and the New Waterford board of education now urge that the county commissioners or the proper township trustees improve the Negley-Fairfield road, as some children on this road will have to be transported to school under the new boundary scheme.

Claim Allowed. In the case of John Konecheck against Harry Crubaugh, formerly doing business at Lisbon under the firm name of Crubaugh-Chevrolet Co., which is an application for a receiver and for the specific performance of contract, the court has allowed the claim of the Stambaugh-Thompson Co., of $248.24. Crubaugh left Lisbon some months ago and has not returned.

Husband Given Divorce. The court has refused a divorce to the plaintiff in the alimony action of Anna Nease against her husband Charles Nease, and her petition for alimony has been dismissed. A decree of divorce has been granted the defendant on his cross petition, upon the payment of the costs, and he has also been ordered to pay the plaintiff $5 per week for the support of a minor child.

Restraining Order Granted. A temporary restraining order has been granted by Judge W. F. Lones against Paul and Sam Beman from filling in property abutting on Green Lane, East Liverpool. The application was filed by City Solicitor Frank H. Hebert of East Liverpool. The appli-

COLD RELIEVED INSTANTLY
WAY DOCTORS NOW ADVISE

Hospital Method Doctors Now Advise For Home Use Helps Many Here to End Colds

Neglecting a head or chest cold is sure to cause needless misery and may risk pneumonia. So doctors are now recommending a method that is giving vast numbers of East Liverpool people almost instant relief—then quickly drives the cold out of one's system. Miss Helen Parker, for example, neglected her cold until her eyes became inflamed, her nose stopped up and congestion started spreading. Then she called her doctor, who advised Ayer's Pectoral—a hospital certified compound of wild cherry, terpin hydrate, etc.

With the first pleasant swallow she felt its comforting, healing warmth.

Relief began instantly and in an hour or so the medication was absorbed by her system, loosening up congestion in her nose passages and chest. When she awoke next morning there was practically no sign of the cold—and in another day or so congestion had disappeared entirely.

Note: Other cases reported daily—all certified by attending physician.

Absorbed by the system Ayer's Pectoral helps get rid of congestion, reduce the "feverish," "achy" feeling and drive the cold out of your system. Just a few pleasant spoonfuls now and you, too, will feel like a different person tomorrow. At all druggists.

"Luckies have helped me win the laurel crown of my musical career—singing in opera. Stage presence demands a slim, youthful figure. Rich foods cannot tempt me. I light a Lucky and stay slender. The toasted flavor of a Lucky soothes the craving for goodies. Then, too, a Lucky never irritates my throat. Even, after smoking many, my voice is still clear."

HOPE HAMPTON

The modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a fattening sweet. Everyone is doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure. Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skilfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets.

Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This surely confirms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

development of God's kingdom," asserted Commandant William Hyde of Cleveland, at the special series of meetings now being conducted at the Salvation Army citadel on West Third street last evening. His subject was "Laying Up Treasures."

Six conversions were had during the service, sending the total to 53 for the revival thus far.

Funeral services for the late William Fife, of Madison county, were held at the citadel during the day.
The body was brought here from his former home and later interred in West Beaver. The services were in charge of Major Joseph Hughes, head of the East Liverpool Corps, and Commandant Hyde. A daughter of the deceased, Miss Mabel Fife, of Sixth street, is active in the local Corps of the Army.

A part of the Sermon on the Mount: "Lay not up treasures on earth where moth and rust doth corrupt and where thieves break through and steal" with subsequent passages suggesting that they "be laid up in heaven" formed the text of the visiting army official.

"From the human standpoint it is a long way off in which to lay up treasures in heaven," observed Commandant Hyde. "But such a viewpoint is a mistaken notion in that heaven is ever near to God's children.
Its distance is shortened by every hour of life."

"When two pure hearts begin to love it is the beginning of wedlock.
Heaven is the actual abode of the redeemed. The pure in heart live just beyond the veil. Every now and then the veil is lifted and such find themselves at God's right hand."

"A share of the heavenly treasures belong to every true follower of God.
The very last hope of the believers belongs to these treasures. Paul knew that fact when he enunciated
'I know in whom I have believed.' He made Jesus his trust. He lodged his hopes in Jesus' hands. He knew that when he reached heaven he would find the departed safe."

"Paul invested in spiritual things;
Jesus took charge of them. The spiritual results of life are in heaven. So will yours and mine be if we are Christians."

"Our heaven will increase in proportion to that we give up for spiritual things. 'Who loses his life for my sake shall find it.' What we give up here to please God will be laid to our credit in heaven."

"God is a faithful trustee. Salvation is of grace. God judges us according to our works."

"The sinner's wages are paid in hell; that of the Christian in heaven.
Some of the poorest saints on earth will be the millionaires of heaven, so let us count all things lost that does not aid in the winning of Christ."

He deprecated the feeling of some Christians who averred they were home sick for heaven and wished the transition would come.

"Heaven can be enjoyed here," he commented. "You don't have to live in California and Florida to eat oranges. You can have them where-ever you are. Likewise living the spiritual life makes possible the initial stages of heaven in the Christian heart in this life."

East Liverpool—America's Pottery Center

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1929.

Come On, Highs!

Represented by perhaps the best cage team in the history of the institution, East Liverpool High school's eyes today are turned toward the sectional tournaments and the state scholastic basketball title which will be determined on March 16.

Headed by Coach Joseph Hurst, who will retire as director of high school athletics following the team's participation in the district and state games, the Ceramic City quintet will go to Dennison on Saturday, March 9, for single game in the Northern section of the Eastern district. Steubenville, the Pottery's opponent in the initial affray, and Dover, Uhrichsville, Wellsville, Coshocton, Mingo Junction, Toronto and New Philadelphia will compete in Dennison games. With nine teams entered, it was necessary that the first round consist of only one game. With seven quintets drawing byes, eight teams were left for the second round.

Four teams surviving the eliminations go to Dennison again on the following Friday and Saturday. Four, likewise, come from Bellaire, where nine teams compete in the southern section playoff. Eight, in all, will meet in the division finals. From this eight, one will go to the state championships in Columbus two weeks from Friday.

Judging from the record made by the Hurstmen this season, and incidentally it reflects great credit upon the retiring coach who has developed a team that is capable of holding its own against all comers, East Liverpool will make a good showing in the forthcoming test.

Back home, high school students and their brothers and sisters and parents and friends, who are unable to witness the battle, will be rooting for them to survive the eliminations and win the right to enter the semi-finals and finals.

And if physical fitness and a never-say-die spirit mean anything, and both are recognized factors in any struggle, an all-Ohio championship honor will be the music to which Joe Hurst will sing his swan song as East Liverpool's basketball coach. And he deserves it.

Come on, Highs, let's win!

Musicians And Talkies

The president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians has announced that "on and after March 1 operators of phonographs or other mechanical devices for producing music in broadcasting studios must be members of the Chicago Federation of Musicians." He said that any obstinacy on the part of the station owners would result in the issuing of a strike call to orchestras.

The operation of a phonograph, it is stated in connection with the report of the announcement, consists in the putting on or taking off of a record, now and then, and the changing of a needle, an operation which any 15-year-old school boy or girl can do. If a member of the Chicago Federation of Musicians is employed for the purpose, he must be paid the union scale, which ranges in Chicago from $90 to $115 a week, which will mean from $2,610 to $3,335 for the 29 stations of the Windy City.

The talking movies, though far from the success which they may ultimately become, have proved something of a blow to the musicians of the land. Added to this, the mechanical contrivances for the production of music which have been adopted by many motion picture houses have had their effect. Probably more musicians are idle today than have been out of employment in years.

Yet there doesn't seem to be any general inclination on the part of the public to resent the supplanting of orchestras by the mechanical devices employed. It may be for the reason that many do not care for musical accompaniments to the pictures; it may be that the substitutes are acceptable to the majority of movie patrons; it may be that some do not know the difference, and there is the further possibility that movie patrons feel that the musicians have been somewhat arbitrary in their demands. It's always easy, in dealing with the public, to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs.

Census Army

One hundred thousand men and women soon will be enlisted in the army of federal census takers. The civil service commission has ample facilities for providing persons of a high grade of intelligence for this work and common sense dictates that these facilities should be used.

The forthcoming census for 1930 will include much information that has been previously untouched. Aside from the ordinary questions of birth, age, residence, complexion and nativity there will be many additional facts required. It will take reasonably good reporters to dig them out.

There is no reason to feel that the spoils system in politics will have much influence in the appointment of census takers and it would be stupid if it were so. Some supporters of the idea assert that the census takers of 1920 were all Democrats. However that may have been, the growing importance of each successive census demands more and more that the spoils politics be thrust out of the account and that census takers be selected on the one ground of fitness for the work.

Art Of Public Speech

Discussing what it refers to as "the waning power of oratory," The Philadelphia Bulletin remarks: "Oratory tickles the ear. Its rounded periods, its appealing figures, its tricks of logic, its shafts of sarcasm and ridicule, its surprising climaxes and thrilling operations, compel admiration—but do they make votes?"

And The Cincinnati Enquirer replies: "In congress eloquence is usually unable to override party lines or make headway against caucus agreement, and on the stump it will not of itself suffice to win a victory over the heavy battalions of party organization. When circumstances stack the cards against a worthy cause, neither the spoken nor the written word can avail for a time. Nor can more fluency."

To which we add that in a sophisticated age the mere arts of the public speaker are rated at their true value as entertainment, and little more. The art of public speech is a greater thing, and its values are enduring.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 28.—The rapid strides which the American people have made in the last decade or two have made necessary many rearrangements in business management. One of the most important which now is in process throughout the country is the placing of bank management on a professional basis. In the days before the war banking was not a distinct profession. Under the national bank act any five persons could form a national banking association and, by putting up the requisite amount of capital they could organize a national bank with the right to issue notes, secured by government bonds, and with other privileges.

If one will take the trouble to look up the national bank act he will discover that one of the principal reasons cited in the preamble to that statute was to create a market for United States government bonds. The national bank act was passed at a time when Civil War financial needs were a sore burden to the government. The national bank act provided that any group of five persons could form a bank, buy government bonds and, using them as security, issue national bank notes against them. This shrewd device brought the treasury of the United States the money paid for the bonds but did not diminish the money available to the people because national bank notes could be issued against those bonds.

This being the case, it will be seen that the government welcomed the organization of national banks by any one who could put up the necessary capital and buy the government bonds. Charters were easy to obtain. No banking qualifications were required of the organizers. Nor are any required today by law.

So then, the small group of local business men started their bank. They employed tellers and a cashier and bookkeepers but they, themselves, acted as directors governing the credit policies of the bank. The employees were usually inexperienced, as well. Often they were relatives of the organizers.

Two elements in such a situation were responsible for many bank failures. First, the complete lack of training or experience in bank management on the part of the organizers and, second, the ever-present temptations of a bank organizer to over-borrow at his own bank.

Banking has for centuries been recognized as a highly technical profession. It has many ramifications with which the successful banker must be acquainted if he is going to succeed. To be sure, since its original enactment, the national bank act has been amended and strengthened so that it is almost fool proof. If a banker will stick to the law and regulations and is honest and possessed of a reasonable amount of common sense he is not likely to fail.

Also, charters are not granted so readily as in the past. No longer is there need to create a market for government bonds in this manner. Indeed, the controller of the currency, who is the chief officer appointed by the president to have regulatory jurisdiction over national banks, will not grant a charter unless there appears a definite need of banking facilities in the community where the charter is sought. That there have been too many national banks was evidenced by the thousands of failures in the last ten years.

But new national banks still were being organized from time to time and there always a fresh group of untrained business men ready to try their hands at the game.

The transition now noticeable is that even these newer banks are recognizing the professional aspects of banking and, in many cases, instead of attempting to manage their banks themselves have employed professional bankers, drawing such talent from larger institutions. An assistant cashier of a big city bank, for example, often is offered the presidency of a new institution in a smaller community.

What is further bringing about this change is that the larger banks are establishing branches wherever the law permits. National banks are circumscribed as to the branches they may have but, in most states, state chartered institutions are not. The Bank of Italy, for instance, has a hundred branches in the state of California alone.

There is an ever-increasing supply of banking talent entering the field. In addition to the young men coming up from the ranks in the banks themselves, a number of important colleges and universities have courses in banking and finance and the graduates of such institutions are in demand.

Professional bank managers have long been the rule in Europe, where there are no limitations on branch banks. The larger British banks, for instance, have from 1500 to 2000 branches. It is rare for a small town in England to have a bank of its own; its needs are taken care of by a branch of a great London bank.

Q. What does it cost to feed hogs? D. B. E.
 A. Pigs are slaughtered usually when they are nine months old. It costs from seven to ten cents a pound to produce hogs for the market at the present price of grain feeds. The average weight at slaughter throughout the country approximates 225 pounds. The number of hogs in the country is about 65,000,000 head.

Q. When the Dartmouth case was taken to the United States Supreme Court, who presented the main arguments? B. S. F.
 A. Daniel Webster made the main argument for the plaintiffs and William Wirt, Attorney-General of the United States, for the defendants. The Court, in 1819, handed down a decision for the plaintiffs.

Q. When the Paramount school was in existence, who were some of the graduates? N. A. F.
 A. The Paramount school graduated sixteen pupils. The names of these pupils include the following: Buddy Rogers, Josephine Dunn, Jack Loden, Thelma Todd, Robert Andrews, Dorothy Nourse, Ivy Harris, Walter Goss, Mona Palma, Jeanne Morgan, Iris Gray, Claude Buchanan, Greg Blackton, Charles Brokaw, Irving Hartley, Thelda Kevlin.

Q. What value may be placed upon a day in high school? L. B. T.
 A. It has been estimated that the daily value of education in an elementary school is $9; in a high school $40; and in college $100. This study was based upon a survey of less than a thousand people and for that reason it is subject to inaccuracy.

Other Editors Say

The snickerers, this last winter, have been having fun with the serious editorial of Mansfield Robinson, the Englishman who sent a wireless message to a big-eared woman on the planet Mars.

That the doctor's unimaginative wife made him conduct his experiments outside their home, presumably on the ground that she would stand for no such goings-on around her home, has been good for a giggle or two.

When the doctor blamed the British postoffice for certain delays in transmission, it was good for more guffaw, though he undoubtedly was merely following the standard Anglo-Saxon tradition—the rule that the citizen should always "cuss out" the postoffice, the telephone company or the telegraph company for failure to deliver messages to unreachable persons.

But, before we laugh our heads off at Dr. Robinson, let's remember that the world, in the last thousand years, has enjoyed a number of laughs that it would now like right well to retract.

Cordicus, suggesting that there might be any planet at all of a size comparable to this earth, was regarded as "not all there." So was Galileo, who subsequently developed further the Copernican astronomical ideas.

Thoughtless men winked knowingly when Samuel B. Morse thought he could make wires carry messages.

And their sons winked when Graham

Bell thought he could make wires carry spoken conversation. The idea of the Italian, Marconi, that messages could be projected through the ether, instead of traveling by wire, convulsed many who are not yet past middle age. So did Roentgen's claim that with X-rays he could look right through opaque solids. Only two decades ago, Dayton folk were so convinced that the Wrights could not fly, that they refused to go out to see it tried.

Dr. Robinson may never communicate with Mars; neither Dr. Robinson nor anybody else. But let's laugh

no longer at efforts to do the impossible, no matter how fanatic the idea may seem. Let's not forget that what we call our present wonderful material civilization has been developed through the ages largely by dreamers who had to dare ridicule of "practical men," while actually accomplishing the seemingly impossible.

Let's not forget that, in the very year of Dr. Robinson's efforts to ring up a lady friend on Mars, men had been flying the Atlantic, millions of persons scattered over the millions of square miles had been listening to the same speeches, and the president of the United States and the king of Spain had been orally conversing without leaving their respective firesides. Within the memory of many persons still alive, such things as that seemed just as ridiculously impossible, as conversation with folk in Mars, must seem to most of us today.—Minneapolis Journal.

What Kind of Friends Have You?

If you are not the good fellow sort, don't try to create the impression that you are.

You will appear ridiculous and lose the respect of those who highly regard you for what you are.

It is necessary to control mean traits; otherwise we would have few friends.

But when a person goes to the extreme of trying to make himself or herself into the sort of person known as a good fellow, when it is not natural, the aspiration is beyond ability to ring true.

There is only one role you can play successfully and keep up.

That is to be natural.

You may be unfortunate in that you cannot be companionable and sociable to the extent that is easy for others.

But the friends you make by just being yourself are likely to be loyal.

Loyal friends are the important thing.

The fair weather sort are not worth much.

Friends too easily made by fair weather methods are not so worth yourself and who will stand by when you most need their friendship.

When your Children Cry for It

Mothers, take one simple precaution, are seldom worried. With a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria in the house they can do what their doctor would tell them to do, when baby is fretful, feverish, colicky, constipated or stuffed-up with cold—give a few drops of this pure vegetable, pleasant-tasting preparation. It comforts baby and soothes him to sleep in a jiffy. It's perfectly safe for the youngest infant. Use it freely—and as often as needed, specialists advise. A more liberal dose is all it takes to comfort and relieve older children, when feverishness, bad breath, no appetite, colds, etc., show they need a good purging. The mark of genuine Castoria is the Fletcher signature on the wrapper. Look for it to avoid imitations.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative mixed with olive oil.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

ALL CABINET PLACES FILLED BY HOOVER

Appointees Will Not Be Announced Until Monday.

TWO "SURPRISES"

Secrecy Maintained by President-elect in Naming Aides.

By George R. Holmes.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Herbert Hoover has completed his cabinet, it was announced today at his headquarters here.

Offers have been made and acceptances received for all the top posts, it was said. The personnel, however, will not be announced until Monday afternoon when the names are sent to the senate for confirmation.

One of the president-elect's spokesmen said there would be "two surprises" in the cabinet slate when announced, that is, it would contain the names of two men whose names have not figured prominently in the nearly four months of cabinet speculation.

Despite the secrecy which the president-elect himself has observed, and which he has insisted upon others observing, seven of the selections can be stated with a fair degree of certainty. They are:

Secretary of state—Henry L. Stimson of New York.

Secretary of the treasury—Andrew W. Mellon of Pennsylvania.

Attorney general—William D. Mitchell of Minnesota.

Secretary of the navy—Charles F. Adams of Massachusetts.

Secretary of war—James W. Good of Iowa.

Secretary of the interior—Ray Lyman Wilbur of California.

Postmaster general—Walter F. Brown, of Ohio.

Some degree of uncertainty still exists concerning three posts—agriculture, labor and commerce. Mr. Hoover may have made up his mind concerning the men he wants to fill these positions, but if he has the fact has not become definitely known.

The job that is said to be giving Mr. Hoover most concern is agriculture.

Since Secretary Jardine elected to retire and enter private business, Mr. Hoover has been casting about for his successor, and giving consideration to many men. If he has made up his mind the fact is not known.

The leading possibilities are considered to be A. J. Glover, Wisconsin dairyman-farmer; L. J. Tabor of Ohio, master of the National Guard; and ex-Governor Samuel R. McKelvie of Nebraska.

There has also been some talk of Eugene Meyer, head of the federal farm loan bureau. Meyer is a financier, rather than a farmer, but Mr. Hoover is said to believe that a marketing specialist would be more valuable in the position than a farmer anyway.

The selection of Good for the war department occasioned some surprise until it became known that the Iowa is to be Mr. Hoover's liaison officer to Capitol Hill. Good served many years in the house and upon his voluntary retirement a few years ago was chairman of the powerful appropriations committee. He was regarded as one of the real leaders of the house. Mr. Hoover believes that his contacts there will be of invaluable aid to the administration.

Councilman Harry S. Lindell

Harry S. Lindell, Second ward representative in city council, was born in Pittsburgh, December 22, 1889. After attending school there and in Steubenville, he entered the employment of the Pennsylvania Railroad company at Wheeling, W. Va., as a clerk in 1907.

Lindell was transferred to Chester as chief rate clerk on May 6, 1912. Six years later he left the railroad company to become freight manager for The Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company, a position he held until 1923 when he became secretary-treasurer of the Winland Brothers' Lumber company.

He was elected councilman in November, 1927, qualifying January 1, 1928. He is a member of the First Church of Christ and a thirty-second degree Mason and past master of the Chester lodge. He is also a member of the Elks' lodge Lions' club and the Apollo Male chorus.

Lindell is married and the father of two children, both high school students.

MISSING GIRL RETURNS HOME

Columbus 14-year Old Girl Married During Absence.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 28.—Miss Mary Jane Phillips, 14, member of a prominent family here and student at St. Mary's of the Springs, exclusive private school, for whom a police hunt was started when her parents reported her as missing Tuesday night, was back at her home at Boxley, fashionable suburb, today, the bride of a 21-year-old youth, Edwin L. Welsh.

The girl's father, who started the search Tuesday night, expressed himself as having no objections to the marriage. According to the parent, the young people were married in Kentucky on New Year's eve and had kept the matter secret. Her father said that his daughter told him after her return today that she wanted to live with her husband and left home.

STREET CARS TO INCREASE FARE

Columbus Traction Company and City Sign Truce.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 28.—People of this city sighed contentedly today, happy in the latest development in the street car rate fight here, which was the postponement of the effectiveness of the new rate until April 1.

At a meeting between city council and officials of the Columbus Railway Power & Light company last night, the truce was suggested and adopted.

The power company announced, two days ago, that effective March 1, ten cents cash and five tickets for 35 cents would be the new street car fare. It has been six cents cash and five tickets for a quarter. At the same time, the public service company announced a reduction in power rates. As the company holds no franchise with the city, council is powerless to block the move except by court injunction.

While the postponement of the increased street car rates was announced, nothing was said about postponement of the reduction of power rates, so the railway company was holding the short end of the rope today.

York Speaks Here

voice he was known throughout the mountains as "The Singing Elder."

The war did not interest him. He claimed exemption on the ground that he was a member in good standing in a church which was opposed on moral principles to war and fighting. The application was refused. Armed with two affidavits, one from his pastor, Rosier Pile, he appealed the decision. His appeal was denied. For the third time he appealed, and for the third time he was ordered to camp. Then Pastor Pile wrote in vain to President Wilson. So York went to camp.

But it took months of arguing and reading of the Bible to convince him that he should go overseas and fight. Finally converted to war, he went over and made history.

SCREEN STAR HAS RELAPSE

Condition of Charles Chaplin Takes Turn For Worse.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Feb. 28.—Charles Chaplin, famous comedian of the silversheet, was battling death early today. Spinal influenza developed in the actor's condition, following a relapse in his illness from pneumonia poisoning. It was reported.

Physicians expressed grave fears for his life. Dr. Cecil Reynolds, in charge of the comedian's case, remained at his residence throughout the night. Chaplin's palatial residence was closely guarded from outside intrusion while all telephone communication with the house was suspended.

The noted player spent a restless night, according to reports at his studio in Hollywood. His temperature was high, steadily exceeding 101 degrees.

The danger of pneumonia also threatened, it was reported.

DEATH ROLL

Mrs. Effie Rudabaugh. ROGERS, O., Feb. 28.—Mrs. Effie Rudabaugh, 51, wife of John A. Rudabaugh, died today in her home here after a short illness of influenza.

Mrs. Rudabaugh was a member of the Ladies of the G. A. R. and Negley chapter of the Eastern Star.

Besides her husband, she leaves two sons, Harmon, Niles, and Wayne, Rogers, and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Huston, Clarkson.

Funeral services will be held in the Clarkson Presbyterian church at 2:30 Saturday afternoon, in charge of the Rev. J. W. Cotton, of Lisbon, assisted by the Rev. J. P. Cotton, of Clarkson, and the Rev. B. H. Shaddock of Rogers. Burial will be made in the Clarkson cemetery.

WEDDING PLANS COMPLETED

Lindbergh-Morrow Marriage to Take Place In Mexico.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 28.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, the ace of clouds and one heart, will be married to Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, his betrothed, in the Morrow estate in the beautiful Cuernavaca valley, 60 miles up a mountain highway from this city, it was learned from a reliable source today.

The wedding, it is said, will be quiet, with possibly only members of the two families present. It may be so quiet as to be almost secret, with no official announcement in advance.

Dwight W. Morrow, the United States ambassador to Mexico, and the father of Miss Anne, Col. Lindbergh himself and the demure little girl who is to be the bride all have a horror of publicity. They cannot understand how the outside world of strangers can be interested in a transaction so intimate.

NO TRACE OF KIDNAPED BOY

Search for Melvin Horst Leads to Blank Wall.

WOOSTER, O., Feb. 28.—The two month search for four-year-old Melvin Horst, Orrville, led to another blank wall today.

Ora Slater, Cincinnati detective, and two members of the prosecutor's office here, left this city yesterday on "a hot tip." Their destination was kept secret.

It was learned today the authorities had been to Bryan and West Unity, following a clue that they hoped would lead to the discovery of the boy or body, that has been missing since Dec. 27, when he was abducted from the streets of Orrville. The tot is believed dead, the victim of foul play. The West Unity and Bryan clue resulted in no discovery, they announced.

Five persons, all members of one family, have been indicted by the Wayne county grand jury for stealing the child.

Meanwhile, authorities are doubling their efforts in the search for the boy, or what is more gruesome still, the body.

LINDBERGH IS CONGRATULATED

"Lone Eagle" and Fiancee Escape Injury In Crash.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 28.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today proved himself the "man they can't keep down," when, despite an injured shoulder and arm sustained in a landing crash yesterday, he hopped off on another flight at 10:27 o'clock Mexico City time.

He was accompanied on this flight by his fiancée, Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, who also was his passenger yesterday when he crashed.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 28.—Cablegrams congratulating them upon their miraculous escape from death or serious injury today poured in on Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his fiancée, Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, from prominent persons all over the world.

Many of the congratulatory messages urged the colonel to give up flying so that he would not continue to subject himself to danger in the form of unavoidable accidents similar to that which occurred yesterday when his plane somersaulted upon landing here owing to a missing landing wheel.

The famous aviator's right arm today was in a sling as a result of the accident. He suffered a dislocated shoulder, and a slightly sprained and lacerated wrist.

His fiancée, who, as fate would have it, was with him in the first serious crash he suffered since his New York to Paris hop which brought him fame, looked wan and pale today, apparently suffering from nervous reaction.

Miss Morrow, her mother, Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, wife of the American ambassador, and Col. Lindbergh are expected to leave for the Morrow country home at Cuernavaca soon. There the betrothed couple will recuperate from the effects of the accident with a romantically and beautiful sub-tropical background to aid them.

The colonel will be unable to fly again for a week or two, according to physicians. But the "Lone Eagle" may spring one of his frequent surprises by going aloft sooner.

His skill and coolness were being widely praised today. After the accident his one thought was for Miss Morrow's safety.

He did not reveal his own injuries at all. They were discovered by a physician who examined him after treating Miss Morrow for shock at the American embassy.

The accident was the second of two sensations which the famous colonel and his bride-to-be caused here yesterday. The first was the departure of the couple in the colonel's plane—destination unrevealed. After the crash, embassy officials stated that the couple had flown to a town in the state of Puebla and had done some shopping there.

LINDY PROBABLY WILL WED IN NEW JERSEY

The marriage of Colonel Charles Lindbergh and Miss Anne Morrow, inset, probably will take place at Englewood, N. J., but it was made plain by Mrs. Morrow that the time and place had not been decided and that it was entirely up to the engaged pair. The picture above shows the new home, top, of Ambassador Morrow's family at Englewood and below is their old home in which Anne was born.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Responding to the overnight jump in copper metal prices to 19 1/2 cents a pound for export and 19 cents in the home market, copper stocks pushed forward buoyantly to the highest prices on record just before noon today. At 142, Anaconda was within 7 points of the 150 goal set for this stock by the ardent bulls in the latter part of 1928.

Andes, Inspiration and other active stocks in this group were at their best behavior, and added 1 to 2 1/2 points to market values. Buying orders for stocks overflowed into the big board in such volume that the tape was 16 minutes behind the market at the end of the first hour. All of the "trading favorites" were boosted to higher price levels as the victorious bulls rode roughshod over the bears and brought in the largest amount of outside buying since the reserve board's famous "warning" was issued. Wall Street looks for no increase in the bank rate today. Though there is quite likely to be a big expansion in the total of brokers' loans.

U. S. Steel is now regarded as the chief "mystery stock" of the speculative list, because of the fact that no details are available as to the time, amount and price of the new stock to be issued. This gives Bethlehem the best play in the steel stocks and an active market Bethlehem moved up to 19 1/2, the highest price on record.

MR. NICHOLS, Kansas City real estate man, said he would be willing to buy a picture by Leonardo Da Vinci, if certain of its genuineness, or do anything else in reason to help the city, of which he is so proud.

Kansas City almost bought a Leonardo Da Vinci, that, according to Joseph Duvane, Leonardo himself never saw.

FORTUNATELY, Kansas City can struggle along without the help of Leonardo as long as factories develop, real estate goes up in value and packing houses operate.

OLD Col. Coates, who built a first-class hotel in Kansas City more than half a century ago, the Dickey brothers, that drove their big bunches of steers to the Kansas City stockyards, and the boats that stopped at Kansas City's landing on the way to St. Louis and New Orleans, did more for Kansas City than could be done by all the painters that ever lived.

Charles Barnhart, 48, of East Second street, was found dead at 7:15 this morning in a cell in the city hall by Desk Sergeant George Toland. He had been arrested on a minor charge Monday afternoon.

World-Wide Drive Against "Dope Evils"

Drugs and Their Addicts Greatest Source of Crime.

The world-wide crusade against the illegal sale and use of narcotics is less than 10 years old. Recently, Narcotic Education Week was instituted. The world conference girded on its armor to defeat the monster, DOPE.

There is a concerted movement in the United States to eradicate "dope." But there are many nations which, because of selfish commercial reasons, will not co-operate. These nations either grow the opium poppy of the cocoa leaf, or are engaged in the manufacture of opium derivatives. This state of affairs is the most serious question confronting the World Conference. The League of Nations is investigating — and has been — for five years! Only through public opinion and the pressure of active crusaders can the league be brought to a realization of the dope question.

Captain Richmond P. Hobson, the Right Rev. James H. Darlington and His Excellency, M. Cayazoni, acting for the World Conference on Narcotic Education, have issued a call for the observance of Narcotic Education Week, beginning February 21 and ending February 28. In his call to the people of the United States, Captain Hobson, leader of the world-wide crusade against "dope" of all kinds, calls attention to the Rothstein murder case in New York which brought to public notice an international narcotic ring of immense ramifications.

The organization especially seeks the enactment of uniform narcotic laws by state legislatures and the passage by the United States senate of a resolution to legalize an inquiry into the narcotic situation. Attention has repeatedly been called to the addiction to drugs among children who are made addicts by dope peddlers who infest school neighborhoods and ply their horrible trade. Heroin and cocaine are the principal drugs offered to children and Bishop Darlington warns all parents to be on the lookout.

FISHERMEN OPEN DRIVE ON SHARKS

HONOLULU.—Japanese fishermen, who supply the Honolulu markets, have started their annual drive against schools of sharks, which are driven in from the open sea by the rough weather each winter and become so bold that they steal fish right off the fisherman's hooks. Two drives against the scavengers in the past two weeks have netted nearly one hundred large specimens.

The sharks congregate just outside the reef off Honolulu harbor and feast off schools of small fish known as "akule" which always find a ready market in the city. Shark fins are considered a delicacy among the Orientals, who use them for soup.

"GOD'S LOVE" SERMON TOPIC AT LA CROFT

Rev. McKinney in Pulpit At United Brethren Church.

URGES REPENTANCE

Evangelist Says World Needs Christ Most Of All.

"Though millions are bewildered amidst the bright light of modern education and progress, the world wallowing in pleasure and not satisfied and material values being given the supreme consideration human society, following a war that has destroyed and maimed millions of people while costing billions and causing inestimable misery, needs Jesus Christ more than any thing," declared the Rev. W. McKinney, pastor, at the La Croft United Brethren church revival last evening. His subject was "The Eternal Love of God."

"Just to save the human race Jesus Christ felt it necessary to come into the world, clothe Himself with its nature and conform Himself to its law. He touched all life, healing the sick, giving sight to the blind, making the deaf to hear, blest the children, held up the sinking Peter, stood by the foul-smelling body of dead Lazarus, broke bread with His disciples, guided Thomas' hands to the prints in His hands and the wound in His side.

"No matter how the birth of Christ is viewed it is scarcely less wonderful than His death. The former is one of the greatest signs of His condescensions. If the one manifests His glorious divinity, then the other exalts His wonderful humanity.

"If Calvary and the resurrection reveal His power, does not Bethlehem make manifest His love? Did not both of the former come from the latter? The infinite glory which belongs to the Cross and the tomb had its rise in the gloom of the stable.

"The nature of the whole work of our redemption is made manifest by the one fact—that He really came. His infinite compassion, His all-embracing purpose were from eternity. But we only got to know of it because He came. This knowledge is what makes us United Brethren."

He noted the greed, unrest, enmity, distress, discontent, hatred and confusion obtaining in the world. "Men want to be free from it all, but they know not where freedom lies. It may be this awful struggle is but an indication of a new day. But if it is to be better than this one it must have the divine Saviour.

"All this means that the world needs Jesus since they are lost in sin and sin must give way to the king of peace.

"We must go Godward and manward. To go Godward is to have holiness of character by living the spiritual life which includes humility, living faith, earnestness, simplicity of heart, all spelling self surrender that is complete to God.

"To go manward we must have knowledge, sincerity, earnestness, love, unselfishness, seriousness and tenderness.

"We must in the propagation of the gospel of Christ stick to the old doctrines of the Bible: sin, repentance, justification by faith, sanctification by His word, heaven, hell, prayer, divine love and man's relation to God.

"As then His own do not receive Him now, the trouble for the failure lying not in the gospel but in the hearts of those to whom it is sent.

"There is one thing that God can not do—that is force you against your choice to surrender. Your surrender must be 'liberate and your own. He will not save you against your will. If you do not mind God He will say I want to save you but you would not let me.

"Many are like the boy putting his hands over his ears that he might not hear his mother calling him into the house. They thus avoid they do not hear God calling them.

"You must do four things to face the Great Judge: believe in Christ, repent of your sins, confess them and be baptized."

His subject was "Following God." Nine conversions were noted during the revival and the congregation generally revived by the discourses listened to.

Returning today to the home of his brother, the Rev. J. Hudson, pastor of the First Baptist church at Midland, Pa., the Rev. Mr. Hudson will rest a few days before beginning another series of meetings at Beaver Falls, Pa.

The words of Elijah on Mt. Carmel during his controversy with the false prophets of Israel constituted his text. "Why halt ye between two opinions? If God be Gad follow him; but if Baal, then follow him."

He showed how it was necessary for the Israelites to pass through a famine of three years and six months ere they came to a realization that God was God. All trouble can be prevented if God is but followed initially. Rev. Mr. Hudson said: "People should live right with God so as to obviate the necessity of suffering to prove that God is. We can have power if we obey God by believing in Him and obeying His commands."

With the revival concluded the choir of the church, directed by Mrs. Catherine Thomas, will sing at the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church this evening.

STOP THE FAT AND GET THIN

The way to reduction is to stop the formation of fat. Modern science has found that way—by turning your food into fuel and energy—by supplying a natural element that helps do that. It is much better than starvation. That modern, scientific method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. Now the results in slender figures, new beauty and vitality, are seen everywhere.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. So you know the effects are beneficial, and why they all occur. Learn what so many have learned in 20 years about it. Do it now. Ask your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola and learn what it means to you.

An Easy Way to Get Enough Vegetables!

SOME people know all about the value of various vegetables, and the reader may know just which vegetables aid the inner system most. But it's another thing to eat them in sufficient quantities! Why not get the benefit of their goodness in the pleasant form of syrup pepsin?

Were you ever told there is as much good in a spoon of plain syrup pepsin as one would get from a basketful of vegetables? Those who have learned this secret of good health don't have to pamper their stomachs, or whip-up their bowels with strong medicines. They seldom, if ever, have liver trouble and can usually eat anything.

Investigate syrup pepsin before you give up rich foods or go on a dull vegetable "diet." Just take a spoonful of syrup pepsin now and then — and forget everything else but your appetite at the table! If you have never made the syrup pepsin test, ten days may do surprising things for you, no matter how "fit" you may feel now. Children are helped wonderfully by this same skillful combination of laxative herbs and pure pepsin. Older people ward off auto-intoxication the same way. It is more than fifty years since Dr. Caldwell gave the world this prescription, yet today there is no druggist who hasn't it all put up and ready for you with directions.—Adv.

SINCE THE FEATS OF LINDBERGH, Commander Byrd and others, America has been intensely interested in Aviation, so we'll not miss seeing "THE AIR CIRCUS" that notable Fox picture at the Ceramic the first three days of next week. The airplane scenes are very effective. Besides, there's drama, suspense and a wealth of humor. What a young aviator or aviatrix goes thru in learning to fly is the essence of the story.

MOTHERS, LEND ME YOUR EARS! If you've a son between the ages of two and eight years, you should have his supply of wash-suits replenished immediately and be sure you go to Ogilvie's first. They've just unpacked a number of boys' suits and I know they'll not be there long. Such values! One has trousers of tan linen buttoned on a waist of blue and tan stripes. There are some in plain colors and others in the two-tone combinations, and, well-made too. On the price tags you will see $1.00.

WHAT DOES YOUR HAIR NEED TO MAKE IT MORE BEAUTIFUL? One of the Marinello Shampoo Treatments to recondition the scalp? A course of scalp treatments for oiliness or dandruff? Perhaps a new wave to emphasize a lovelier line in your profile? At the Stern Beauty Shoppe there are specialists in all branches of beauty culture, who will cheerfully answer these questions for you.

WITH THE COMING OF SPRING AND AN EARLY EASTER a number of ladies are manifesting their interest in the new coats at LEMMER'S. I thought, while visiting there the other day, that never before had I seen so many stylish coats, sports and dress models. Their fashionable details distinguish them from those of any previous season. Frequently, by the collar one judges the chick of a coat. They are upstanding (Queen Anne) scarfed, bowed, and capped, (sometimes on one shoulder only). Made of choice materials and with prices that are kind to the average purse, they will certainly win your approval.

DO YOU REMEMBER THE WIND AND HAIL STORM one Saturday evening last Spring 'Twas terrific. One that cannot soon be forgotten. Damage was apparent everywhere. Are you protected against such events? CONTINUING THE STORY OF HELEN AND TOM, who acting upon their friends' advice had dinner at the Traveler's Hotel last Sunday. Wish I'd thought of it long ago.

It costs a thousand dollars more to equal CHRYSLER Performance in any other car

New Chrysler "65" 4-Door Sedan $1145

CHRYSLER engineers from the outset disregarded all other performance standards and all other design. They set themselves to establish definitely the most modern principles and fundamentals of engineering and to apply them in a brand new way.

The same processes which based the new Chrysler style on the canons of classic beauty worked step by step to provide performance unlike any other in the industry—founded on a new and fresh interpretation of the basic principles of engineering design.

It is because of this Chrysler plan and the achievement of this plan, that an entirely new motor car performance has been brought into being.

The extraordinary acceleration, smooth speed, ease of handling and control, compactness, comfort, durability and long life, together with the unusual safety and stamina which characterize Chrysler, have all been combined in a car whose qualities can only be approached by other cars costing hundreds, yes, even a thousand dollars more.

It is no wonder that Chrysler engineers, working with that singleness of idea and surety of approach to every problem, should create a product built as none was ever built before and better than any other.

Sharkey Gets Decision Over Young Stribling In Florida Bout

Gob Wins $100,000 By Victory

Macon, Ga., Boy Muffs Chance to Become Contender.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 28.—Jack Sharkey, the garrulous gob of Boston, wore a $100,000 smile today as a result of his victory over W. L. (Young) Stribling, the acrobatic scrapper of Macon, Ga., before a glittering assemblage in Flamingo Park last night, but he certainly had no justification for bragging very audibly over his accomplishment.

For, although he beat Stribling handily enough, he did not rise to any great heights in so doing. He fought a good fight, but not a brilliant one, and very few of the 35,000 fans who paid about $100,000 to witness the spectacle, questioned the decision rendered by Referee Lou Magnolia of New York after ten rounds of battling.

It was an easy $100,000 that Sharkey earned. He emerged from the ring almost without a mark, and while he did not add greatly to his prestige there was no gainsaying the fact that he had, once and for all, disposed of the handsome young southerner as a serious heavyweight championship contender.

Stribling had his big chance, and he muffed it. He simply was not good enough to cope with the heavier and stronger Sharkey. He tried hard enough to come through for the strongly-partisan Stribling assemblage but he did not have it in him. For one thing, he weighed only 182 pounds, exactly ten pounds lighter than Sharkey, which counted, and for another he tried badly after the fourth round, demonstrating that he has not the necessary stamina when up against first class opposition.

The young southerner, however, made two bold bids for victory, once in the fourth and again in the ninth, but each time he either could not see his opportunity or could not seize it because of lack of stamina. He rocked Sharkey to his heels in the fourth with a hard right to the jaw and a terrific left hook to the chin, but he did not follow up his advantage. And again in the ninth he belted Mr. Sharkey squarely on the button with a hard right but the Bostonian did not go down. And from that amount on, "W. L." as his parents call him, subsided.

Sharkey fought what might be termed a heavy fight. That is to say, the kind of a battle that while not conducive to thrills for the spectators, was nevertheless a sure road to victory. He jabbed away at Stribling's face with a mean straight left that drew blood from Stribling's nose and mouth as early as the third round and he occasionally varied his attack with hard right hooks to the body which had the effect of wearing down his lighter opponent.

This writer recorded two rounds for Stribling, two even and six for Sharkey. At no stage of the contest was the Bostonian in any real danger. "Ma" Stribling, who sat at the ring side, stop-watch in hand, said that her son was "robbed" of the decision. She was almost alone in this belief. "Pa" Stribling, his manager, declared his son was suffering from a sore rib and neuritis of the shoulder and that this began to have an effect upon him after the fourth round. Stribling himself expressed the opinion that he fought a good fight and that had he battled Sharkey four days ago, before he strained his rib, he would have beaten him.

The show was indeed a great spectacle, even though the bout itself was anything but a thriller. It drew a surprisingly large crowd, and was a distinct tribute to the promoting ability of Jack Dempsey, who took up the task of carrying on after the late "Tex" Rickard passed away. Dempsey made it possible for Madison Square Garden to realize a profit close to $100,000.

No prize fight has ever entertained such a brilliant assemblage and very few, if any, have been held in a more picturesque place than Flamingo Park. With its string of royal palm trees and tropical atmosphere, in the crowd were some of America's best known men and women, among them being Rex Beach, Fred Stone, Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees; Irene Castle McLaughlin, Estelle Taylor, Carl Fisher, Babe Ruth, Al Capone, Irving Berlin, governors of half a dozen states, retired millionaires, Wall street brokers, United States congressmen and the cream of Palm Beach society.

The fight was made official by the presence of "One-Eyed" Connolly, the gate crasher, who appeared in full dress suit, cane, spats, white gloves and monocle. Another spectator who attracted no little attention was Al-

Taylor, Smith and Taylor came from behind in the closing minutes of play to score a victory. Schneidmiller made the winning point of a free throw just before the gun sounded the end of the hard fought battle.

Stribling Had Two Chances For Knockout

Macon Youth Makes Desperate Attempts for Victory in Fourth and Eighth Rounds —Sharkey Aggressor Throughout Most of Fight.

By SID MERCER.

International News Service Special Correspondent.
MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 28.—Had Young Stribling followed up the damage he inflicted on Jack Sharkey with a terrific right to the button in the fourth round and another vicious attack born of desperate energy in the eighth round at Flamingo park last night he might have been hailed today by his admirers as the uncrowned heavyweight champion of the world.

He struck no more than three mighty blows in upholding the standard of the South against the Yankee invader but aside from that he was the same old mauler and wrestler, cramped in his style by Sharkey's effective countering and by a referee who wouldn't let him get away with the rough stuff. It was a colorless fight that Sharkey won out there under the summer sky before a crowd of 40,000 persons who had assembled from all parts of the country in the hope of seeing the issue in this battle sharply drawn and decisively settled.

Sharkey was the aggressor in the sense that he forced the pace and coaxed Stribling into rushing into damaging counter-attacks. But Sharkey took no desperate chances because he knew he was winning. Stribling disappointed his constituents from the southland by sliding to defeat without making any desperate attempts to sand the skids.

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 28.—University of Cincinnati Bearcats had little trouble in downing the Dayton Flyers here last night, 33 to 22, in a game which coach Rice termed as "the final conditioning" for his team which closes its Buckeye association campaign tonight with Miami.

A victory for Cincinnati tonight would place the Cats in a tie with Ohio Wesleyan for first place for the Big Six championship.

THERE'S a lot of chatter along Beak Buster's Boulevard concerning the fistie activities of Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia's nifty king of the light heavyweights.

Tommy, as you probably know, would like to whittle his way into the big money which seems to clutter the box offices whenever a couple of heavyweights decide to show off, and while he isn't taking on much additional poundage there are any number of fans who feel that Loughran could give many of the boys in the beef trust division cards and spades and still finish with a good average. There are constant rumors drifting about concerning the matching of Loughran with this or that heavy weight, but in New York State he is going to continue to fight as a light heavyweight until he decides to climb down and vacate his present throne. One of the comical rules of the New York State Boxing Commission says that this is essential and the commission in New York takes its work seriously. At least it takes this branch of its work seriously.

Tommy has discovered, however, that the governing bodies of things pugilistic in other states are not so fussy and it is likely that the Philadelphia mauler will do his heavy weight scrapping outside New York.

When—and if—he fights in New York it will be as a light heavyweight, and he'll be defending his title. It is possible that New York's snootiness in the matter will drive Tommy and his wares clear out of the state.

Along in December Loughran mixed with Big Boy Peterson, of Minneapolis, in a heavyweight tussle in Chicago and while he won the decision the paths weren't greased for an easy victory. Big Boy put up a pretty stiff argument but Tommy was too wise for the Minneapolis clouter and made him miss heavy rights time after time. Peterson doesn't rank with the top notch contenders for the crown that Gene Tunney galloped out from under and if Tommy had no easy time winning from Big Boy there is still some doubt as to how he would fare against better competition in the division. The Philadelphia, however, seems to be well satisfied with the result and will likely go against other heavies outside New York.

Tommy isn't the first light heavyweight king who has tried to wiggle into the big money. Jack Delaney tried it but the experiment, after he had given up the light heavyweight title, was a pretty dismal flop. Years ago the lighter fellows seemed to be more successful. Bob Fitzsimmons topped the scales at only 156 pounds when he won the title from Jim Corbett and at the time of this victory he also held the middleweight title. In his fight with Jeffries, who weighed 210, Bob scaled around 170 and was never heavier. That's five pounds under Loughran's championship weight limit. Ten years before Fitz took the title from Corbett, Charlie Mitchell, of England, fought John L. Sullivan a thirty-nine round draw with bare knuckles at Chantilly, France. Mitchell, in that fight, weighed less than 165. Kid McCoy, 160 to 170, stopped some good heavies after outgrowing the middleweight limit and Tommy Burns, the French Canadian, won the title and held it for eleven battles when his best fighting weight was 175 pounds. Jim Hall, Jim Mace, Bill Squires and others fought as heavyweights although they were all under or around the light heavyweight limit of modern times. And they invaded the heavier division successfully.

Tommy figures that he will also defend his crown and dopes Mickey Walker as the fellow who has first call on a crack at his title. And this bout may go to Chicago, where Paddy Harmon is said to have a call on Loughran's services.

Meantime Tommy is still anxious to work his way into the heavyweight ranks. How he will succeed is still problematical.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

In Memoriam

In memory of our beloved husband and father, Clyde A. Sipple, who died one year ago today, and is sadly missed by his widow and daughters. No words can picture our loss, or the heartache and sorrows which have been ours during these weary months.
 We treasure up in sweet memory what we cannot have in reality. We find comfort in the words, "I am the Resurrection and the Life; he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in Me shall never die."
 MRS. CLYDE A. SIPPLE & DAUGHTERS.

POLICE KILL MAD BULL IN BUDAPEST

BUDAPEST.—A mad bull was turned into chopped beef by police-swords in one of the principal thoroughfares of Budapest, after he escaped from a van, ran amok in the streets and tossed a traffic cop, who failed to impress him, with his horns.

The ensuing bull-fight was all the more exciting as it took place at noon time in the most populous district of the city. Hundreds of frightened pedestrians dashed for the stores and climbed on street cars, automobiles and even on lamp posts. The maddened beast was finally knocked down by a taxicab and then cut to pieces by the enraged policeman.

FIVE GOOD "BIT PLAYERS" MAKE WHOLE SHOW IN "LITTLE ACCIDENT"

By David P. Sentner.
(Copyright, 1929, by International News Service).
NEW YORK.—A pebble makes a more noticeable splash when assisted by a trap-drum.

So permit me to beat a tattoo on the tin roof of the world for the "bit" player.
For those who are rusty on their Broadwayese, a "bit" player is like a restaurant waiter. He comes and goes but you notice everything else but him.

A "bit" player generally appears for but a sneeze or so in only one act. Frequently "bit" players double up in different roles.

There is no piece playing along Make-Believe Alley with so many excellent "bit" players in it as "Little Accident," by Floyd Dell and Thomas Mitchell.

Parenthood has been treated sentimentally, licentiously and tragically but in this play it is treated as a comedy. And after all what is funnier than a gang of males waiting in the ante-room of a maternity hospital?

Hicks (John Butler) has the soul of a bookkeeper but the makings of a proud father. Hicks is having his first child—he says so himself:

"I'll never have another baby, I couldn't stand it."

Hicks strides and strides around the waiting room of the maternity hospital. He means. He runs his fingers through and through his hair. The nurse finally brings him in the news.

"Is it a boy?" asks Hicks.

"No," answers the nurse. "It's a girl."

"Thank God," utters Hicks. "Then she'll never have to suffer like I have."

So this is Butler's "bit". A sophisticated, delicate part, which performed carelessly might ruin the play. But as he does it, it is the funniest scene on Broadway.

Then there is Mrs. Case (Clare Woodbury), the landlady. Mrs. Case is as sloppy as a mop and as practical in her philosophy as a rooming house landlady.

Mrs. Case sees life straight as a broomstick and tells you. She is the kind that will face her God with arms akimbo and with nary a primping.

"But the book doesn't say that," objects the father who is trying to act the mother.

"Well, I've had babies and the book hasn't," says Mrs. Case.

Then there is Miss Hemingway (Elizabeth Bruce), the recording nurse in the doctor's office. Miss Hemingway has her moment when she makes a physical examination of a male patient.

"Take your shirt off," says she, as if commenting upon the weather.

Her casualness, his alarm. It is terribly funny.

The fourth candidate for Broadway "bit" honors in this play is J. J. Overbeck (Malcolm Williams) father of the wayward son. His son is an awful mess. But instead of preaching, J. J. laughs at him. With his silvery hair and his worldly attitude, J. J. merely passed through the play but I hated to see him go.

And "Bit No. 5" was Rudolph

SCENE FROM "GOOD BYE KISS"

Amendolario (Adrian Rosley), Italian six-time father. Rudolph explained to his comrades in the waiting room that he had essayed the role of fatherhood five times with only girls as the result but now he had been blessed with a boy.

It was funny but so human. You laughed at Rudolph's silly happiness with a bit of a catch in your voice.

A star and supporting lead players have the evenings to make the most of their roles and lines. But to the glory of a good "bit" player, they are on the stage for but a flash and gone again like an echo.

So may we all be good "bit" players and do our little parts as neatly as we are capable.

This Great Healing Oil Must Banish Eczema and Skin Trouble

Or Your Money Back. That's the Plan on Which Emerald Oil Is Sold by All Good Druggists.

Make up your mind today that you are going to give your skin a real chance to get well.

You've probably been, like a lot of other people, convinced that the only thing to use was an ointment or salve (some of them are very good) but in the big majority of cases these sticky salves simply clog the pores and the condition primarily remains the same.

Go to any good druggist today and get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil.

The very first application will give you relief and a few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that by sticking faithfully to it for a short while your skin troubles will be a thing of the past.

Don't expect a single bottle to do it all at once but one bottle we know will show you beyond all question that you have at last discovered the way to restore your skin to perfect health.

Remember that Moone's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue and that it must give complete satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded.—Adv.

A clear skin is irresistible

...in fact, popularity depends upon it

THAT priceless treasure—a clear, flawless, lovely skin—charms, with admiration, the hearts of men.

First impressions cannot be good without a clear skin—first impressions are quickly made and are not soon forgotten. Old friends may excuse pimples and secretly sympathize but new acquaintances may not be so charitable. Skin blemishes are not inviting. Neither can they be covered up. They embarrass. Hold people back. Steal away joy and happiness.

A lovely—clear skin—is within the reach of all. To those who have lost it, hope is offered. You, too, may have a beautiful skin, rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple.

Many thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking S.S.S. It is Nature's own blood tonic for raising the body's power of resistance to disease, improving the appetite, building firm flesh, and clearing the skin. S.S.S. promotes constructive metabolism (healthy body building). It increases the number of red blood-cells.

The way to the skin is through the blood. Strong, healthy blood nourishes the body and fights against infection and disease.

All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

Rheumatic Laughs At Rain

Local Man Suffered Two Years Before He Discovered the Indian Formula That Drove Pains From His System.

Sam Matalina

Daily the stories of the good that is being accomplished for eager health seekers by the use of this fine old Indian Remedy, Owa-Ton-Na, is being told to the laboratory representative at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 E. Sixth street, East Liverpool. Many who have suffered for years and have used medicine after medicine and other expensive treatments have found relief in Owa-Ton-Na when all else seemed to fail. Owa-Ton-Na accomplishes these results by the use of nature's own remedies—roots, herbs, barks and berries; not by doping the system with harmful chemicals.

Thousands of people all over this broad land find it especially effective in cases such as that of Mr. Samuel Matalina, 933 St. George street, East Liverpool. If you have rheumatism in any form or if you have neuritis, sciatica, or lumbago, you know what it is to suffer with the hot shooting sensations of this condition, especially when there is rain in the air. Mr. Matalina knows full well what it is to dread the coming of bad weather for fear of what it will do to bring on rheumatic attacks.

He says, "For quite sometime my stomach has not been acting just right. My liver and kidneys were also in bad shape. It just seemed that no matter what I ate I would have terrible attacks of gas and bloating spells. My bowels were always constipated and nothing gave me relief. My back gave me a lot of trouble, sometimes feeling as though it would break and by the time night came, I just had to drag myself around."

"Finally these conditions got so bad that rheumatism set in and caused me a great deal of suffering. The sharp, shooting pains in my joints almost made me cry out at times. When Owa-Ton-Na was recommended to me, I thought it would be just like a lot of other things I had taken that seemed to do me good for a while but then lost their effect; but I want to say right here that it just seemed to drive the poisons from my system that were causing so much trouble."

"Almost from the first bottle, I could see a big change. My bowels started to function normally, stomach felt better and once again I am able to eat anything I want without suffering afterwards. The biggest relief I had though was when those terrible knife-like pains in my joints started to ease up. Even now, I can hardly believe that they are gone. It just doesn't seem possible that any one remedy could do for me what Owa-Ton-Na has done. I now sleep like a baby and once again I go about my work with real energy."

What Owa-Ton-Na has done for Mr. Matalina, it can surely do for you. Why continue suffering with these conditions. Call today at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 E. Sixth street, and have a personal talk with the special laboratory representative. This service is free and incurs no obligation. Owa-Ton-Na is also sold at Carnahan's East End Store and Newell, W. Va., Store.

NAVAJO PRAISE FOR WHITE MAN WHO FOUND OIL

Indians Receive More Than $750,000 in Six Years.

REPORT IS FILED

Production in 1927, Banner Year, 860,000
Barrels.

WASHINGTON.—Tribesmen of the Navajo Indians on Arizona and New Mexico reservations feel kindly toward the "white man" for developing their lands for oil and gas.

Charles H. Burke, Indian Commissioner, reported to the Department of Interior that the Indians of this tribe have received during the last six years more than $750,000 in cash from oil found on their lands. Their income for the last two years, Burke said, amounted to more than $375,000.

The fiscal year of 1927 stands out as the "banner year" for the six-year period. Oil production from the wells that year amounted to 860,000 barrels.

Drop in Demand.
Production during last year fell to 344,000 barrels because of the drop in demand for oil.

The department stated: "This development of Navajo oil lands began with a lease entered into with the Midwest Refining company in 1921 covering what is known as the Hoback Structure on the Navajo Treaty Reservation in New Mexico. A discovery well on the Navajo reservation was brought in under this lease in the Fall of 1922, with a production of approximately 300 barrels a day.

"Since then two general sales of oil and gas mining leases on the reservation have been held, from which $143,000 bonus money was received. There are now 23,880 acres on the treaty reservation covered by 44 oil and gas mining leases. On three of these leases oil has been discovered in paying quantities and there are now 20 'dry' wells."

Aids White Tribe.
But the money Uncle Sam is paying his wards is not making them wealthy individually but collectively. By their own agreement, the royalties are accredited to the tribe and is spent for improvement.

"This means that the money may be spent for road building which is greatly needed to open up isolated areas on the reservation," the department said. "It may be spent for the development of springs and wells which are greatly needed, that the reservation may be better used by these Indians in the prosecution of their chief industry, which is sheep raising, or it may be spent in the purchase of additional lands for the grazing of Indian stock."

The 680 gifts received at the palace included an electric clock that tells the time at many different parts of the world at the same time, received from the city of Kobe; a colossal stuffed turtle from the Loochoo Islands; and a white bear skin 12 feet square, from the Japanese association of Seattle.

The shipment was sent from here to Ivy Lee, of New York, nephew of the Rev. Ledbetter, who sent it on to its destination. The king of Bulgaria is a personal friend of Lee's.

DOES HIS DUTY

Investigators of the Hudson Tube subway blaze say that Harry Van Zandt, above, a motorman of the train in which hundreds were hurt and overcome with smoke, did his duty. Burning oil and refuse on the tracks and defective insulation is blamed for the panic.

STORY OF SAHARA AT AMERICAN

There is a fascination for most people in the great Sahara desert and its people—the Arab tribesmen who stubbornly resist the steady advance of the white races into their domain, the hard-riding Bedouins and the intrepid pioneers and soldiers who face the desert's dangers in the cause of civilization.

Much of this color and luring atmosphere is depicted in FBO's striking photoplay, "Love in the Desert," which comes to the American theater tomorrow with Olive Borden, Naah Berry and Hugh Trevor in the featured roles.

It is based upon an absorbing story by Harvey Thaw which centers about the warfare of a desert chief and his tribe upon an irrigation project fostered by an English company and approved by a rival sheik and his followers. The story also embraces a thrilling romance that entails the daughter of the latter mogul and a young Englishman who is sent out to the engineering work.

Olive Borden, brunette beauty of the films, is seen as the charming Arab girl around whom the vivid action revolves and Hugh Trevor plays the romantic lead opposite her while Naah Berry, famed for his rendition of "heavy" roles, portrays the menacing native chieftain. "Love in the Desert" was directed by George Melford, who was responsible for the direction of "Rudy Valentino's" first great success, "The Sheik."

SENNETT STARS ON STATE BILL

Filmdom's newest "team" is brought to the screen in "The Good-Bye Kiss," Mack Sennett's personally written and directed production which opens its local engagement tomorrow at the State theater.

Sally Eilers and Matty Kemp are all members of the "team," both discovered and introduced to the screen by Sennett himself. Kemp has appeared in a few minor roles in other pictures, but Miss Eilers has never before been on the screen.

Possibly only Mack Sennett would have risked such important roles in a big production on newcomers, but Sennett was convinced that both Miss Eilers and Kemp were potential stars and had the courage of his convictions.

"The Good-Bye Kiss" is the first picture Sennett has directed in many years and the first feature-length production he has made since "Molly-O" with Mabel Normand.

Johnny Burke, former vaudeville star, plays the featured comedy role in "The Good-Bye Kiss."

ROGERS-BRIAN HIT AT CERAMIC

"Someone to Love," Charles (Buddy) Rogers' second starring picture for Paramount, will open at the Ceramic theater tomorrow for a three-day run. This picture is winning instant success wherever it is shown and is reported to surpass in some respects the enjoyable love drama of college life, "Varsity," which opened Rogers' starring career.

Mary Brian, the leading lady of "Varsity," plays opposite the star again in this story of a music store salesman who falls in love with a wealthy girl and turns his talents and attentions to building up a failing girls' school. His efforts in this direction meet with success and he wins the girl as a result.

In "Varsity," the famous comedian, Chester Conklin, had an important part and, in "Someone to Love," Rogers has the support of two other well-known comedians, Jack Oakie, who won instant success with Clara Bow in "The Fleet's In!" and William Austin, the great character Englishman. James Kirkwood, the dramatic actor, is cast in this production.

COMPROMISES

Sir John Stamp of England is to present to the reparations committee at Paris, France, a proposal on which it is believed the revised Dawes plan will be drawn. It will probably recommend partition of Germany's future annuities into two parts.

FOUNTAIN PEN PISTOL APPEARS

DETROIT.—It looks very much like a fountain pen and fits snugly into a vest pocket. But it is not filled with ink.

Instead, it carries a dangerous load—a .38 calibre steel jacketed bullet—and writes a message of death.

It is the first "pen pistol" to come to the notice of Detroit police who seized it when they arrested Jack Rose during a raid on an apartment here.

Rose was held under $1,000 bail when he pleaded not guilty to a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

VANGUARD

A Highly Amusing Story of a Romance Aboard a Millionaire's Yacht.

By Arnold Bennett

Rayner, hiding as well as he could his disgust at being thus forced to run the risk of missing the culmination of the show, ran off.

Soon afterward Harriet appeared on the top deck. She wore a white apron over her new yachting costume, and the apron was ample enough to have asphyxiated two yachting costumes.

"Miss Vamp!" a voice hailed her from the roof of the wireless cabin as she passed. Involuntarily she turned her head. "Ha! You recognized yourself then, dear lady. Didn't I tell you this was no ordinary sort of a yacht? Look!"

The wireless operator seemed to be in the very highest spirits.

She looked, but saw nothing save a perpendicular rope. She passed on, forward along the deck.

Septimius came to meet her, as she stopped near the film camera.

"You look ravishing in that apron. Ravishing!" said Septimius. "We've been waiting for you." His eyes shone. Apparently he was in an ecstasy at the sight of her.

"My shoes hurt dreadfully," said she, with maidenly calmness. They did.

A Dangerous Man

The Honorable Luke glanced aside at her from his camera. His eyes outshone the eyes of Septimius. Never had she met such a gaze. It thrilled and frightened her. She recalled his words on the previous night in the owners state sitting room. "You wait and you'll see."

She thought: "The wireless operator is dangerous, but Luke's more dangerous. He's more dangerous even than Ralph."

She saw Lord Furbur beckoning to her, and she obeyed the gesture, Septimius following.

"I'm studying my new job, Ralph," she murmured. "I can't stop long. I'm very busy."

Near by, the four deckhands and two stewards were hauling on the halliard. They stopped.

"Go on! Higher!" said the baron to them in a low voice. Bumpion had appeared, panting, to greet his enchantress from above.

"She's level with the main deck, my lord," said one of the deckhands.

"Higher, I tell you!" enjoined his lordship impatiently. The gang hauled again.

"Tunncliff!" called the baron, and the Honorable Luke started once more to turn the handle of the camera.

Lord Furbur gazed with young rapture at Miss Perkins, who thought how agreeable and stimulating it was to be the only woman among all these vitalized males.

"Look!" said Lord Furbur to her.

The horse-box was rising clear of the rail of the navigating deck, and therein reclined Mrs. Bumpion, revolving as the horse-box revolved, with one foot unshod and the ankle thereof bandaged. She could be plainly seen through the open ends of the box. Her face was stern and yet composed. Her knuckles showed white as she clenched her hands on the sides of the box. She went higher. She revolved more quickly. She dominated the yacht and all on board. The film camera made its rapid click click click. Mrs. Bumpion ceased to rise, for the horse-box was nearly touching the topmost block of the tackle.

Harriet perceived that she was not the only woman among all those vitalized males. A greater than she glared mountainously down upon her.

"I wouldn't sell this film for ten thousand pounds," said Lord Furbur to Harriet. "Look at her. She's a great woman. She was beaten, but now she's beating me, beating all of us. Nothing can beat her."

"Viva! viva! viva!" came from the sirens with their shrill voices. The signal was too tempting to be ignored. The British crew cheered loudly in response. Some of them imagined that they were taking their revenge on the yacht's formidable housekeeper. More vivas ascended from the launches beneath.

"Lower away!" muttered the baron, glugged with spectacular satisfaction, and Mrs. Bumpion, still twisting very slowly, began to sink toward the level of the main deck.

"We're nobodies," said Lord Furbur in Harriet's ear. "She knows what she wants, and she'll have it. That's where she's got us."

"Pardon me," said Harriet. "I wanted a job, and I have it."

"Fool!" said Lord Furbur. "You're only a parasite on a parasite."

"No," said Harriet. "I have a job and I shall do it. An employer." She left her employer.

"That's my apron, if you please," called Mrs. Bumpion as she sank.

Laughter! General laughter! The cheering and the vivas ceased. Mr. Bumpion had disappeared. A few minutes later news came to the upper deck that Mrs. Bumpion, the horse-box having been swung in to the main deck, had hopped to a cabin there, in the arms of her husband.

Lord Furbur and his bland guest, Mr. Septimius Sutherland, sat down to lunch in the dining saloon which earlier had been the scene of dramatic encounters.

Reaction follows the greatest events, and reaction had followed from the Italian launch into the bosom of the yacht. Reaction affected the atmosphere of the lunch itself, despite the benevolent cheerfulness of the chief steward (or rather the chief priest), Bumpion.

And the sense of reaction was intensified by the absence from the meal of Miss Harriet Perkins. Harriet had sent word that, being extraordinarily busy upon her new duties, and indeed absorbed by them, she had no time for the frivolities of eating and of masculine society. The convert is always fanatical, and Harriet had just been converted from idleness to industry. Without being aware of the fact, she was determined that her industry should disturb the world as much as possible.

Her industry had certainly disturbed the sirens of the frocks. Harriet would have no more truck with them. She decided on the first green dress and on the yachting costume, and on a quite appreciable amount of lingerie, and would listen to no further arguments. Was she not a working maritime housekeeper? In pity, Septimius bought a frock or two, which he hoped might both suit and please his delicious absent wife. The transaction was perhaps intended to soothe his conscience in the matter of the warmth of his regard for Harriet. Then Lord Furbur, hearing of the business, plunged into the lounge and bought twenty-three frocks in addition to many oddments of attire.

The sirens were going away happy; but they were stopped at the very gangway by order of Harriet. Harriet the housekeeper had caused a meal to be prepared for them. As a perfect housekeeper she naturally thought of everything. That meal the sirens had to eat, and did eat, with twittering enthusiasm.

And let no owner or guest imagine that her attention to the repast of the sirens might prejudice the lunch of the mighty in the dining saloon! Quite the contrary. The character and plenteousness of the lunch had occasioned some friction between the new housekeeper and the chef. The new broom swept clean, and in so doing was inspiring the usual opposition and sinful sulkiness.

Hence the lunch, triumphant gastronomically, did not prove to be very successful as a social gathering. And yet both Lord Furbur and Mr. Sutherland had apparently forgotten the small unpleasantness which had arisen out of the former's strange attempt to gain control of the house of Laller.

The Film.

It was not until the arrival of the coffee and the final disappearance of a beaming Bumpion that reaction was overcome. The baron's eye happened to catch the rolled-up cinema screen which was suspended above the service door. The sight put an idea into his head, and he rang for the Honorable Luke, who came with a demeanor which indicated recent excitement not wholly recovered from.
